Inequities of Borough's Rent-Levelling Ordinance Lead to Thoughts of Its Repeal

Around 1,000 households in the Borough pay rent to a landlord under the Borough's three-year-old rent levelling ordinance.

Should the ordinance be repealed? Kept, but amended?

The same questions were asked last year when the ordinance, originally passed with a two-year lifetime, was up for renewal. The questions have been placed on the agenda for a special Borough Council work session this Wednesday night.

"I recommend repeal," says Alan Wallack, "it has worked as a protection for tenants, but this is outweighed by the damage it does to the small landlord."

A strong advocate of rent levelling three years ago, Mr. Wallack has been chairman of the seven-member Rent Levelling Board. He resigned recently because of the pressures of his law practice.

"I think that, today, the unrestricted market place would do the work of the ordinance," Mr. Wallack continues, "but if the ordinance is repealed, it would have to be on the assumption that there won't be rent-gouging."

"What has convinced me that it should be repealed is that it hurts the mom-and-pop landlords, the people who count on rental income to send the kids to college--that kind of thing. In some cases, the ordinance has been almost punitive."

The most vocal tenant representative on the Rent Levelling Board has been Robert McChesney, now in the Soviet Union. Before he left, he turned over to the board a survey which he called "a useful beginning," and recommended to the board a more thorough study, possibly financed through a grant.

For the entire three-year period, there has never been what Mr. Wallack calls "a co-ordinated base of statistics." The Borough's rent-levelling office has had to rely on figures from other departments, like the Board of Health.

For example,

Have landlords been selling rental property, out of exasperation with the demands of the ordinance, thereby reducing the Borough's small stock of rental housing?

There aren't any figures. Edith Leichtl, Rent-Levelling Co-ordinator, says many a landlord has threatened to sell but nobody really knows whether threats have been carried out.

How many landlords, Mr. Wallack wonders, have refinanced their houses so that hefty monthly mortgage payments could count toward giving the right to raise the rents?

A new tenant representative on the board, Eric Greenfeldt, wants more facts before Council decides whether to scrap the ordinance.

Hurricane Was No Belle-Ringer in Princeton With Winds and Rainfall Well Below Normal

Princeton, on the western frontier of hurricane Belle, was touched only slightly by Monday night's storm.

It was indeed a wet time: 2.18 inches of rain fell between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday, but when you compare that figure to the nine inches that cascaded down in 24 hours in July of last year, Belle seems like a pretty dry young lady.

Science Associates' vice president Dan Mazzarella recorded winds of only 40 m.p.h.—brisk enough to snap small branches—and he reports winds in the lower 50s in Lawrenceville. The 40 m.p.h. figure came from Mr. Mazzarella's home on Magnolia Lane.

The barometer went down to 29.52, which Mr. Mazzarella says isn't much deeper than an ordinary winter storm.

Some Power Lost. Township police said no roads were "impassible," although a tree limb covered part of Alexander Road near the Rusty Scupper. Cars were able to go around it. A large limb covered almost all of Maple Street between Spruce and Nassau, and power for two houses next to the tree was out from 11 p.m. until 6 a.m.

Power was also off for a Borough home next to a dangerously hanging limb on Mercer Street (see photo). Power went out in the Locust Lane-Kingston Road area at 12:05 Monday morning, and although Public Service was on the scene, police said they had not been notified when power was restored.

A tree limb that fell on Pine Street broke a power line. The break caused a smell of smoke, a fire-truck reported to the scene at 11:22 p.m., investigated for a possible fire, found none and left at 11:59.

POWER OUT, STREET CLOSED: A large, old maple near Trinity Church on Mercer Street was a casualty of Monday night's storm. Houses nearby were without power for several hours and the street was closed to Alexander until mid-afternoon.

Storm Clean-up Planned

Leaves, small branches and limbs blown down in Monday's storm will be picked up by the Township Engineer's Department starting Monday.

Householders should tie branches with string and put leaves into bags for curb-side collection. Truck crews will also pick up large limbs.

There is no set schedule for the collections.

"We weathered the storm well," said Township Police Chief Fred Porter. Concern about the storm caused cancellation of Monday night's Township Committee meeting.

"Warnings were fantastic!" Mr. Mazzarella said admiringly of his weather bureau colleagues. "The way the storm was moving justified all the action taken."

Vacationers—including two members of the TOWN TOPICS staff on the New Jersey shore, another on Long Island and their families—were uprooted, but in many cases went right back to the beach house Tuesday morning.

Straight Line. The storm paralleled the coast and moved almost directly north, Mr. Mazzarella points out. "Normally, a storm would take a parabolic curve, but this one had no perceptible curve," he said. "Storms that don't turn out to sea are usually kept inland by a low-pressure trough along the coast, and that's what happened here."

Mr. Mazzarella's associate David Ludlum, president of Science Associates, is vacationing in central New Hampshire and missed all the fun. He loves hurricanes.

of the late Murray Medvin, was sworn in at Tuesday night's meeting before an enthusiastic standing-room-only audience. The Rev. Blane C. Aldrich led the audience in prayer before the induction by Mayor Robert W. Cawley.

Mr. Trotman's appointment keeps the Council all-Democratic. To retain his seat, he must now win election in November.

The new Council member will take on Mr. Medvin's job of Fire Commissioner. He will also be Council's liaison to the Joint Recreation Commission, will hold the youth portfolio, and will sit on finance and housing committees.

Mayor Cawley named Council member Gus Escher as Council's Planning Board member, the job formerly held by Mr. Medvin. Appointment to the Planning Board is the prerogative of the mayor.

Council made an emergency appropriation which includes $5,000 to pay attorney Robert Wilentz for representing the Borough in its role as "intervenor" in the Township's suit against state school officials over school cost sharing.

Council members Martin P. Lombardo, Joseph P. Moore and Mr. Escher spoke at length and with deep emotion about the Township's suit. Mr. Lombardo, wearing a black arm-band, said it was in mourning for the Township's action "in squeezing $1 million more out of the Borough." The $5,000 in legal fees could have bought fire and playground equipment and assisted the elderly, he said, adding that Borough citizens now feel "disenchantment" with the Township which "came in to get everything they could." He said he could not understand the Township's action, and warned that

"What's actually happened to rents in the Borough since the ordinance was enacted?" Mr. Greenfeldt asks. "I know some landlords haven't raised rents as much as they could have. Is this a pattern, across the Borough? On the other hand, the temptation might be to raise rents as much as possible, in view of future uncertainty about the costs of maintaining a piece of property."

"I hope we can find a way to keep a fair balance between tenant and landlord," he says, "we need as many facts as we can get to make the best possible judgment."

Error at the Outset. Hans Lechner, landlord who has, like Mr. Wallack, been on the board from the first, thinks the ordinance never should have been passed. He sees a tremendous spread - similar apartments going for wildly different rents. He has observed, also, that the professional landlord raises rents more than somebody who just has a few rooms to rent, what Mr. Wallack calls the "mom-and-pop" landlord. It's possible, Mrs. Leichter thinks, that in at least one way, the ordinance hasn't helped tenants. Permissible rent increases are keyed to the Consumer Price Index, she points out, and when the CPI was at its 13 percent peak, landlords may have raised rents higher than they would have normally because the ordinance allowed them to. Many didn't take advantage in this way, she says, but others did.

"Without that CPI, it would have been pretty hard to go to a tenant and announce, 'I'm increasing your rent 13 percent,'" she says.

"It isn't a clear picture," Mrs. Leichter has found. "You do wonder whether, in some instances, the ordinance does benefit tenants. There are also serious reasons to wonder whether this is the time to eliminate the ordinance. A thorough study would be beneficial."

Crisis Averted. Mayor Robert W. Cawley says nobody ever thought the 1975 ordinance was perfect, but he says "it did do something useful."

At that time, there had been a Federally-imposed rent freeze, he points out, "and after it, when rents really went up, it seemed like a crisis situation. It seems less so now."

He commented on a survey done by Borough residents ("Renter in the Middle"), which showed that the worst squeeze was felt by the middle-income family with lots of kids - not the little old lady living alone, who has been the object of much publicity and concern.

"It's the great big family earning, maybe, $15,000 that's really caught when it comes to rent," Mayor Cawley said.

Nobody quite knows the impact of Princeton Community Village and whether it has eased the rental situation in the Borough. One reason for not taking the fully allowed passing the rent ordinance was to effect what Mr. Wallack calls "a meagre short a time span between compromise" between publication of the CPI index fostering new rentals, and not driving landlords out of business.

Are there more rental units in the Borough than before? Mr. Greenfeldt suspects different from what they'd think because so many places are rented by word-of-mouth recommendation.

"A newcomer looking at the classifieds in the paper might think the situation is worse than it is because newcomers have nobody they can ask," Mr. Greenfeldt says.

Unanswered Questions. Princeton Community Village counts 35.6 percent of its tenants as former Borough residents (25.8 percent are former Township, 38.7 percent are people who used to live in Princeton and have moved back, or people who work here and can now live here.) However, nobody knows whether that 35.6 percent left behind vacant apartments for others to move into, or whether people simply moved out of a crowded apartment leaving others in the family in the same unit with more elbow-room.

Whether the ordinance is repealed or not, it seems likely that it will indeed be studied. Mrs. Leichter says it needs clarification and repair. Some landlords, for example, think they'll be penalized if they don't take the fully allowed rent increase every time, and this isn't so. Also, there is too short a time span between publication of the CPI index and the effective date of increased rent.

"If the ordinance is eliminated now," Mrs. Leichter says, "things might be quite different from what they'd have been if the ordinance hadn't passed because of the psychological effect on landlords."

Mayor Cawley would like an ombudsman outside Borough Hall - perhaps in the Civil Rights Commission or even an agency like Family Service - who could hear tenant or landlord grievances. He acknowledges that, it would take too much in a small town, handle a completely fair, smooth and efficient ordinance.

Meanwhile, if Council decided against immediate repeal, there is one year for study before the ordinance automatically expires.

Community Village Nears 1st Birthday in Happy Frame of Mind

Grass grows where there used to be mud, children have handsome wooden climbing gyms instead of boulders to climb on, and residents now say "we" instead of "I."

Princeton Community Village is about to celebrate its first anniversary, and indeed will do so at a picnic to be held Sunday, August 22.

The Village's 238 townhouses and apartments for low, moderate and middle-income families are 94.5 percent occupied.

"One of the pluses of the Village," says Marcey Crimmins, manager, "is the mix of incomes. People said you couldn't mix incomes, but we think we've shown you can."

"I've never heard residents talk about income," says Debbie Porter, co-editor with Claire Beskind of Village Voice II, the village newspaper.

The income-range, incidentally, is $2,400 to $25,600. The mean income is $8,800. Two families have an income over $20,000, four families have between $15,000 and $20,000 and 71.1 percent of all the families have between $7,000 and $15,000. Only three families -- all of them single people -- have an income under $3,000. Figures have been assembled by Marianne Rees, president of Princeton Community Housing, Inc., parent of the Village.

Varied Landscaping. In the year since the first apartments were occupied, a lot has been done on the 35.7 acre plot off Bunn Drive (which is, in turn, off North Harrison Street.)

Robert and Golan Arlette decided to plant flowers

around the sign at the entrance to the Village. Somebody--nobody knows who--planted flowers in the grassy circle in front of Holly House, the five-story "mid-rise" that contains the Village's 71 one-bedroom apartments and a group is planning a rock garden--and if anybody has raw material for a rock garden it's the residents of Princeton Community Village--for the area behind Holly House.

Half the people in Holly House are retired, although it wasn't planned that way. If you're a young married in Holly House and a baby is on the way, you're immediately moved to the top of the waiting list for a two-bedroom townhouse. No children it's a much better situation allowed in the mid-rise by now."

Federal regulation. What you hope is that a two-bedroom unit is available in nine months, but that waiting list goes back to last winter.

As for one-bedroom units... "We could have filled another mid-rise at least," Ms. Porter says.

Another Long List. The longest waiting list is for one of the 24 low-income units. Federal funding for low-income housing is available for only 10 percent of the entire Village, and since August of last year, there has been a long waiting list. Management has held out as many units as possible for elderly people with no income except Social Security. There are 14 of these residents.

Within the security of Holly House, there is a social room where bingo nights make the cinder-block walls shake. Floor representatives keep an eye on the older residents and make sure they are all right.

But there are 288 children in the Village, too, and this summer, they've been keeping busy all day in crafts, games, reading programs.

"Township police warned us about summer trouble, but it hasn't happened," Mrs. Crimmins says.

One of the reasons--and one of the reasons the Village is apparently solving its other problems, --is a vital, active, enthusiastic--even throbbing!--Residents Council.

"It's the Village's ears and eyes," Ms. Porter says.

Young and shouting voices reverberate summer nights between the buildings. Babies and toddlers can't get to sleep. Men in the maintenance crew began strolling the Village at dusk, "Hey, isn't it time you were home?" they'd ask, and the kids, knowing the men because crew members live in the Village, would respond and begin to disperse. Director of the crew is Village Superintendent Ken Rochester.

Patrol Organized. This "Village Peoples Patrol" drew some criticism at first because it seemed like a vigilante group, but Ms. Porter says residents feel positive about it now, and think it should be composed of residents, as well as crew.

One fatherless family of five children, Mrs. Crimmins says, seemed to be a great problem, and residents often complained to management office about the children's behavior.

The mother herself, Mrs. Crimmins says, gathered her neighbors together and listened while all the grumbling finally came out in the open.

"It relieved the tension and created a very warm feeling," Mrs. Crimmins reports, "and

Hudibras

Time ... and Again (No. 2)

The old Hudibras Tavern in Princeton enjoyed its most illustrious years both immediately before and during the Revolution. Innkeeper during this period was Jacob Hyer, an influential and respected member of the community. Hyer was a fervent patriot, a Colonel of the Third Regiment of the Middlesex County Militia. He was also entrusted and paid to keep an express rider to carry messages between the Continental Congress and General Washington in those crucial years.

A new Hudibras is coming to historic Princeton. Across the thoroughfare from its 1760s predecessor, the new Hudibras will evoke the old, but with a modern touch of informal dining and entertainment. Local clientele and travelers are invited to relax in its lounge and dining room

PARKS, CURB CUTS
On Long Township Agenda.
Blown away when Township Committee members cancelled last Monday night's meeting in the wake of Hurricane Belle, the agenda has been retrieved in time for next Monday's 8 p.m. meeting in Township Hall.

In a lengthy list devoted to old business, Committee will talk about curb cuts for bikes and the possibility of applying for state Green Acres money for a Community Park amphitheatre and an over-pass. The over-pass would allow pedestrians to reach the new part of the park, now under construction, from the tennis-swimming part of the park without dodging State Road traffic.

The Environmental Commission would like $70,000 to develop Basin Park, and Committee will discuss that also. It's under the heading, "Capital Budget." Under the same heading is reconstruction of the part of Province Line between Stuart and Pretty Brook — it's a portion shared with Lawrence Township — and drainage in the Riverside area.

Committee will accept a memo from its attorney

No one minded that Belle failed to live up to the reputation of her more obstreperous predecessors. She did leave a trail of relatively minor, somewhat bothersome damage, but there was no major dislocation inasmuch as the others of her tribe in recent years to pass by here have been tropical storms. Belle was the first hurricane to make her presence felt in Princeton since Donna 16 years ago.

Now that the summer drought has been dispelled, are we in for drier weather for a while? Not so, the Man says, reporting that showers are on his list of possibilities from Thursday night through Saturday. Temperature readings from the mid-60s overnight to the mid-80s by day are expected.

An attempted break-in at 97 Olden Lane, on the property of the Institute for Advanced Study, was thwarted when the would-be burglar triggered an audible alarm. Patrolman James Vandermark investigated the incident, which happened at 9:38 p.m. Sunday night.

Car Entered. A Township resident who parked his car behind the Playhouse Theater Friday night reported the theft of a white canvas tote bag containing prescription sunglasses worth $81, and two cameras valued at $350.

The tote bag was recovered at 6 the next morning on Mercer Street near Hibben. The sunglasses and cameras were still missing.

JACKET STOLEN
From Ladybug. Anyone seeing a man about 6-foot-2, wearing a flowered shirt, bell-bottom blue jeans, and a woman's green blazer, should notify Borough police. A man of that description walked into the Ladybug clothing store, 16 Nassau Street, at about 3 Saturday afternoon, and then ran out with the blazer, valued at $68.

Store employees saw him run down Nassau Street and jump into a tan-colored automobile.

MOTORCYCLIST FINED
In Borough Court. Matthew F. Ostergren, 45 Greenbrier Row, was fined $50 plus $10 in court costs for driving a motorcycle without a license. Judge Philip Carchman presided at the Borough Court session.

Improper passing resulted in a fine of $15 for John A. Schirich of 9 Chopin Lane, Lawrenceville. Dana May Latch, 7 Hardin Road, was fined $15 for failure to yield the right of way.

Fines for speeding were levied against Virginia T. Nelson, 9 Heather Lane, $15; Linda T. Walko, Route 206, Skillman, $20; Mary J. Lapaglia, Route 31, Pennington, $20; Paula Y. Bryson, Box 632, $15; and Elizabeth R. Cleaver, Rosedale Lane, $32.

LICENSE REVOKED
In Township Court. Sally M. Skibitsky, of 159 Carter Road, had her driver's license revoked for two years after pleading guilty to a charge of drunken driving in Township Court.

Judge Philip Carchman also fined her $200 plus $10 in court costs, and gave her a one-day jail term, which he suspended and replaced with one year of unsupervised parole. She was ordered to attend the driving school in Borough Hall on Saturday mornings.

Judge Carchman also fined Bryant Brewer, 14 Greenshadow Lane, RD 4, $200 plus $10 in costs for driving with a revoked license. Mr. Brewer had pleaded innocent to the charge.

Three speeding violators were fined: Anthony R. Mattera, 41 Carnahan Place, $15, plus $10 in court costs, plus $15 for not paying on time; George P. Drake Jr., Route 518, Hopewell, $18 plus $10 in costs; and Donald A. Johnson, Box 601, $30 plus $10.

Two drivers were fined for stop sign violations: James R. Roney, 152 Grover Avenue, $30; and Joseph M. Reilly, Ludlow Avenue, Belle Mead, $20.

CAR FLIPS OVER
Driver Charged. A car traveling east on Hamilton Avenue at about 12:10 a.m. last Thursday skidded through the intersection of Chestnut Street, skidded another 170 feet until it struck the curb on the right side of the road, overturned, and then skidded on its left side another 35 feet, finally turning upright again in the westbound lane and coming to a halt with its front wheels on the sidewalk.

Borough police reported that the driver, Philip C. Crawford, of 66 Battle Road, told them that he was driving at about 30 miles per hour when he swerved to avoid hitting a cat crossing the road. Sergeant Thomas Michaud administered a breathalyzer test. Police charged Mr. Crawford with careless driving and driving while his ability was impaired. No injuries were reported. The car was towed from the scene.

Car Hits Magnolia. A car driven by Rocco Cuomo, 214 Nassau Street, skidded on wet pavement on South Harrison Street last Saturday, went off the road, and skidded into a magnolia tree. The accident happened just north of the Harrison Street Bridge. Mr. Cuomo was treated for cuts at Princeton Medical Center.

Illness Causes Crash. A woman who, police said, suffered a diabetic reaction while she was at the wheel of her car escaped serious injury in an accident August 4 on Stockton Street.

According to police reports, Constance P. Morris, of 18 Edgehill Street, told them she was driving west on Stockton Street when, she said, "I felt that I was lost." Her car veered across the eastbound lane, struck a light standard, went back across the road, jumped the curb on the north side of the street, and ended up in a clump of bushes. She was treated for an injured nose and leg at the Medical Center.

BURGLARS SURPRISED

By Custodians. A break-in at the Gallup and Robinson firm at 575 Ewing Street was discovered at about 10:45 p.m. August 3 when two employees of the Trenton Custodial Service entered the building to clean it and encountered two young men fleeing through the same door.

The cleaners gave the following descriptions to Township Police: One suspect was white, about 5-feet-9, 150 pounds, with light colored hair, and was carrying a brown bag. The other was black, about 5-feet-8, 160 pounds, with an Afro haircut, and was carrying a crowbar.

Patrolman Peter S. Savalli and Detective Frank Boccanfuso investigated. A soft drink machine and a cigaret machine both had been pried open and the change taken. Two calculators also were reported stolen.

POCKETBOOKS STOLEN

At Parties. In Church. Backyard partying has proved costly to a number of women. Carol A. Luidens, of 36 Route 31, Pennington, put her pocketbook down at a party she was attending Saturday night at 388 Franklin Avenue. It was gone when she next looked for it. She lost credit cards, driver's license and registration, and other belongings worth $54.

A woman from Allentown, Pa., and another from State College, Pa., were visiting at 309 Ewing Street Friday night. While they were out on the patio they left their purses on the floor near the front door. One pocketbook later was found under a tree in the front yard, the other was still in the house, but both wallets were taken. The Allentown woman lost $55 in cash. The visitor from State College was missing $52.

A woman from West Orange worshipping at the 6:45 a.m. Mass August 3 at St. Paul's Church left her billfold on a pew. It was gone when she returned to look for it. She lost $100 in cash, plus a savings bank book.

Two employees at the Alchemist and Barrister restaurant, 28 Witherspoon Street, left their purses in the

A HOLE NEW WAY TO CLIMB: Pre-schoolers who check in this fall at the University League Nursery School will find this bright new play platform to climb on, peek out of and enjoy, generally. Designing parents are, left to right Hannah Horwitz, Jerry Gelson, Ron Surtz and Shmuel Horwitz.

READY, TODDLERS?

Nursery School is. The 25-year-old University League Nursery School co-operative is accepting registration of children between the ages of three and five, including a number whose parents have no Princeton University affiliation.

"The school's cooperative spirit is reflected in the active role parents play in the school's administration, and directly in the classroom as helping parents," says Chris at Bloomfield, vice-president in charge of admissions.

This summer, parents have been designing, building and painting a new play platform (see photo), refurbishing a toy shed, re-designing the nature room and putting up new shelves in the four classrooms.

Roger Cholewiak is the parent in charge of equipment planning.

The nursery school, at 171 Broadmead, meets from 8:45 a.m. until 11:30 a.m., either four or five days a week, at the parents' option. There is an extended day program until 1 p.m., for those who wish it. Low-tuition and scholarship grants are available.

Inquiries may be directed to Sharon Powell, present of the school (924-9268) or Chris Bloomfield (924-6153).

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED anglicized their original To Talk on Ethnic Background. The Dick Roberts Film Company of 360 Nassau Street has been commissioned by the Health, Education and Welfare Department to make a film on ethnicity. Mr. Roberts is seeking articulate persons, especially second generation Americans, who will describe what it was like growing up in this country as a child of an immigrant family.

The film is planned in three sections. The first deals with the big wave of immigration at the turn of the century, and using old photographs and eye witness accounts men and women now in their 80's and 90's recount their first experiences on these shores.

The second section, for which Mr. Roberts is having a more difficult time finding interviewees, deals with the children of those first immigrants. These are the people, as Mr. Roberts described them, who experienced the dichotomy of speaking their native tongue at home in the evening but during the daytime doing everything possible to be as American as the other kids in school. These people experienced problems as they broke away from their parents and customs of the old country, struggled for a college education and jobs in the Great Depression and often effect, and people are once again proud of their ethnic backgrounds and are eager to talk about them. For those who feel they could make a contribution to the film, Mr. Roberts is available at 924-9707.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 20 cents.

Borough citizens were now saying "go slow in anything with the Township."

Culprit Named. Mayor Cawley said, "If there is a culprit, it's the state legislature, and I believe responsibility to Township taxpayers was Township Committee's only motivation in this court action."

Mayor Cawley said he hoped "very strongly" that the legislature could find another financing vehicle for regional school districts, and said he'd learned that at least one legislator felt the body hadn't examined the issue in sufficient depth.

"I ask everyone on Council and in the Borough to maintain the spirit of community," the mayor said, "Borough and Township have many joint services — library and recreation, to name two — we just couldn't have alone."

The mayor said he pledged "all I can" to win the court action, believing the Borough has an excellent chance.

Unfortunate Confrontation. Councilman Moore said the important question, under the state's thorough-and-efficient law, is "What are you getting from your school system for what you're paying?"

Although the overall reason for the original legislation was to provide property-tax relief, Mr. Moore said, the Borough is losing money that doesn't provide relief for the Borough taxpayer. He said the Borough would probably be in court even if the Township hadn't acted because litigation is the only way to solve the complex issue involved.

"It's unfortunate we have to find ourselves fighting our sister community," he concluded.

Mr. Escher said he would do all he could to muster the money to "stop this travesty." He said the Borough stands to lose $1 million. Township Mayor Jay Bleiman has said that is the amount the Township could lose.

URGE "PLAN X"

For Sewer Construction. Although the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority is reportedly ready to approve the single-plant Plan A at its meeting this Wednesday, the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council declares this week that Plan A would not serve the region's best interests and urges the Authority to compare "Plan X" and "Plan A" before making a decision.

"Plan X" is a three-plant treatment proposal which evolved through meetings with members of planning boards and governing bodies in the various municipalities that compose the Authority.

In a letter to Ezra Bixby, Authority chairman, Samuel M. Hamill Jr., executive director of the MSM Council, characterizes as "incomplete, inconclusive and in some important respects quite misleading," the critique of the Authority's position paper prepared by Westwater, Gaston and Dunka, consultants.

The Dunka report doesn't evaluate alternatives to Plan A, as authorized in the Authority's May 25 resolution, Mr. Hamill charges. He adds that tables showing annual costs don't represent Plan X accurately since the extent of Hopewell Township's participation isn't known, and since the tables don't include the effect of including potential buyers of sewer use like Plainsboro or Franklin.

Mr. Hamill says there are "ample grounds" for concluding that Plan A "will seriously impair stream ecology," but "no grounds for the statement that Plan A is environmentally acceptable."

Although the Dunka report says Hopewell Township has taken a formal position that no sewerage service is desired in the foreseeable future, Mr.

Hamill says, the township is now actively considering Plan X.

RAIL SERVICE RESUMED On Kingston Branch. Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner has announced that the Department is notifying 19 freight shippers and receivers that services will be resumed on several branch railroad lines which were excluded from the ConRail system on April 1.

The services, to be provided until March 31, 1977, will be financed 100 percent by the Federal Railroad Administration.

Service will be restored on the 3.6-mile Kingston branch of the former Penn Central Railroad between Monmouth Junction in Middlesex and Somerset counties. Once the track is rehabilitated it will be put in service by ConRail for two users.

Commissioner Sagner said "our objective in restoring service to these lines, which otherwise would be abandoned, is to support industry and to keep it from moving away, to save jobs, and to look toward the preservation of these rail corridors for future development."

SUMMER ROMANCE
In "Picnic," two daughters and a mother live in a quiet little midwestern town. Hal, a young vagabond, hursts into the serenity of the town and sets off William Inge's drama,
"Picnic," opening this weekend at Murray Theatre, and closing Summer Intime's 1976 season.

"Picnic: A Summer Romance" will open this Thursday and will play through Sunday, and Thursday through Sunday of the following week. Curtain is 8:30, 7:30 on Sundays.

Princeton actors Georgine Freedman and Anne Sheldon will play the mother and the next-door neighbor, and Patricia Gorman and Winnie Holzman will be the two daughters. Jamie Horton will be Hal.

Mitchell Ivers, director, has blended various versions of the play. The original Broadway production never satisfied Mr. Inge, and Mr.
Ivers has combined the original script of the Broadway production with a later Inge script called "Summer Brave."

Mr. Ivers recently won Princeton University's award for outstanding contribution to the theatre. Intime audiences will recall his direction of "The Voice of the Turtle,"
"The Real Inspector Hound" and "The Marriage of Bette and Boo."

"THE GRADUATE"
Back, in Revival Series. The 1960s hit, "The Graduate" will be shown all three nights next week in Summer Intime's Classic Film Series. This is the one with Dustin Hoffman, and Anne Bancroft playing Mrs. Robinson with the lovely daughter.

Performances Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights will be at 7:30 p.m. in McCormick Art Museum theatre.

WHY, IT'S ROMBERG!
Old Friend Returns.
Sigmund Romberg, who goes back to the days of Rudolph Valentino, almost, will draw the nostalgic to the Open Air Theatre. Washington Crossing, this weekend with a production of his operetta, "The Desert Song."
It will play this Thursday Friday and Saturday, and again Tuesday through Saturday, August 17 through 21. Curtain time is 8:30.

"The Desert Song," set in Morocco, tells the story of Pierre, disdained by the haughty Margot because she believes him a coward and a weakling. She falls in love with the mysterious rebel chieftain known as "The Red Shadow" who is the terror of the French troops and the hope of the native tribe known as the Riffs. Who is the Red Shadow? Ah! Wait'll Margot find out!

The Halfpenny Playhouse of Kearny, N.J., is the producer, with John J. Johnston directing and Richard Albert in charge of musical direction. James Seiler is choreographer, and there are some of the native—i.e., belly—dances which outraged Boston audiences when "The Desert Song" was originally presented there.

Erika Nadir and George Kneek will star, and Robert Christie, Patricia Stanley, Jack Purdue, David Smith, Michele Ferrera, Julia Brennan, James Powell and Robert Nadir will also be in the cast.

Mr. Powell has done the sets, and Fred Rodger the costumes. Charles K. Robinson is producing.

"MERCHANT" MOVES

To Trenton Showcase, "The Merchant of Venice," last seen at the Open Air Theatre, will move this Friday to the stage of the Artists Showcase Theatre in Trenton. Shakespeare's drama will play the Showcase this Saturday and Sunday as well, with 8:30 curtains on Friday and Saturday and 7:30 curtain Sunday.

The Artists Showcase Theatre is at 1150 Indiana Avenue, Trenton.

Marvin W. Stafford is playing the role of Shylock and Colleen Smith is Portia. Andrew Hornyak portrays Antonio, the merchant, and Robert Grayce is Bassanio, suitor to Portia. John F. Erath, professor of English at Trenton State, directed the production for the Open Air Theatre. The production is being adapted to the smaller Showcase stage by Susan Tapper, who has directed for the Pennington Players and is completing work on her master's degree in theatrical direction at the University of Connecticut.

"The Merchant of Venice" will be the third presentation of Festival '76, the combined effort of Artists Showcase and Shakespeare '70, Inc., operating under a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Arts.

Silent Movie. Although this effort only occasionally approaches the 24-karat gleam of "Blazing Saddles" or "Young Frankenstein," Mel Brooks' madcap tribute to the silent movie era proves that silence is at least somewhat golden.

A holdover at the Playhouse, "Silent Movie" lives up to its name: Brooks has dispensed with the dialogue and keeps the movie zipping along with a non-stop progression of sight gags, pratfalls, and patented Brooks lunacy. He puts in a few surprises along the way, including the full-scale cameo

Back to Brooklyn
Lee Dratfield, the folk musician whose Yiddish songs of long ago—and not so long ago—have made her a favorite in this part of the world, journeyed back to Brooklyn, her hometown, for a concert last week.

She was invited by the Princeton University students who call themselves the Brighton Lights Jewish Theatre Company, and who have been playing this summer in Temple Beth Abraham, on Sea Breeze Avenue right by Brighton Beach, in Brooklyn. (Audiences will remember the group's "Tales of Our Fathers" from performances earlier this summer in Murray Theatre).

The Brighton Lights turned over their stage to Lee for her program, "Songs of the Shtetl"—folk songs of Eastern Europe—and it was a standing-room-only evening. Rita Asch was the accompanist.

Lee will take her program to the Artists Showcase Theatre in Trenton late in September.

appearances of several Hollywood heavyweights: Burt Reynolds, James Caan, Paul Newman, Liza Minnelli, and Anne Bancroft.

Bancroft could hardly refuse the offer, since she's the real-life wife of Brooks, who not only directed and wrote most of the screenplay, or should we say story-line, but also starred. Brooks plays a has-been Hollywood director who drank himself into professional oblivion, finally sobered up, and has decided to make a smashing comeback.

Abetted by loyal sidekicks Marty Feldman and Dom DeLuise, who bring to mind the Three Stooges in their antics, Brooks convinces the studio chief (Sid Caesar) of a poverty row studio to bankroll a silent movie with a half dozen of Hollywood's biggest stars to avoid being taken over by a corporate conglomerate.

In case you've forgotten how these silent movies are kept in motion, John Morris provides a snappy musical score and periodic title cards give Brooks a chance to come back with a few irrepressible one-liners. Others in the case include Bernadette Peters, playing the siren of anyone's Hollywood romance fantasy, and Henny Youngman. Henny Youngman speechless? That's the name of this game.

"MAME"

In Hightstown, Mame the irrepressible, will be back on stage next week-end in Theatre-by-the-Lake's - final production of the summer season. "Mame" will open next Thursday, August 19, and will play that Friday and Saturday, with an 8:30 p.m. curtain. The theatre is indoors, in the auditorium of Geiger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie School campus, South Main and Ward Streets, Hightstown.

Mame tells about the free-swinging, free-spending New Yorker who suddenly finds herself, in the speakeasy world of the 1920s, with a small orphaned nephew to bring up. The story carries through the Great Depression on into the 1940s, with Mame landing on her feet as fast as the plot can spin her.

Maxine Tiger will play the title role, joined by Sue Mandel, Art Neill, Ellen Bolwin, John Partilla, Frank Sciallo, Jim Vragel, Conrad White, Carol Moteverde, Debbie Holcombe and Joe Matteo.

Jeffrey Holcombe is directing. Tom Cardea is in charge of musical direction and Rosemary Korzon is doing the choreography. Ron Brockway is set designer, Paul Falcona the lighting expert.

PRINCE and DRIVE-IN

Ode to Billy Joe. Another nostalgia trip for scriptwriter Herman Raucher, who was responsible several years ago for the immensely popular "Summer of '42." This time, Raucher has based his story on the highly-successful ballad of the late '60s, which Bobby Gentry sang to America so many times.

Michael Hugo's camera work captures the year (1953) and the setting (Mississippi), recording the sultry atmosphere of a long, hot summer during which Billy Joe McAllister (Robby Benson) goes a-courtin', with Bobbie Lee Hartley (Glynis O'Connor) as the object of his affections. The plot is unabashedly romantic as it deals with the two adolescents

'MODULUS' READIES ITS SUMMER SOUND: Tony Penelli on drums and Seth Grossman on piano provide a blend of rock and jazz for their group, "Modulus," performing Thursday at 7:30 at the Princeton Shopping Center. caught in the pangs of familiar problems.

The Mississippi background is distinctly appealing as a series of vignettes unfold... family life, church-going and community happenings that provide a strong moral and emotional current to strengthen the story. For reasons of his own, however, Raucher has chosen to alter the ending from that spun out in the ballad, and the tragic climax will not appeal to everyone.

Benson and O'Connor,

JAZZ ROCK LISTED
On Summer Sounds Program. "Modulus," a group that plays what it calls "electric jazz rock," will perform at the Summer Sounds concert this Thursday at 7:30 at the Princeton Shopping Center Mall. Admission is free for the concert, which is co-sponsored by the Shopping Center.

Four musicians from the Hopewell Valley area make up "Modulus." They are Seth Grossman, composer and pianist; George Petrillo, guitarist and composer; Tony Penelli, drummer; and Charles McCracken, electric cellist.

With two composers in the group and with its unique instrumentation -- electric piano, electric guitar, drums-percussion and amplified cello, "Modulus" combines the improvisational aspects of jazz, the electric sounds and progressive ideas of contemporary music, and the spirit and appeal of rock.

Summer Sounds will continue on Friday, August 20, when "Black Truth" appears at Community Park Field.

This one, directed by Burt Kennedy, is based on Kyle Onstott's best-selling sequel to "Mandingo." The plot and theme you know already. Heading the cast is Ken Norton.

Pharmacy Footnotes
by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm

The body is dependent upon iron and copper for the oxygen transporting function of the blood. Hemoglobin in the red cells serves as the vehicle for carrying oxygen. Iron is a basic constituent of hemoglobin. Hemoglobin combines with oxygen in the lungs and transports it to the cells, where it is needed to help digest the fuel provided by the carbohydrates, fats and proteins. It also carries carbon dioxide back to the lungs. Iron is therefore essential to the life process.

Parking Problem at Hospital. To the Editor of Town Topics: Following is a copy of a letter I have written to Judge Carhman, the Chief of Borough Police and Mayor and Council:

Enclosed you will find an overtime parking ticket plus my check for same.

However on behalf of the Princeton Medical Center in obtaining commission Volunteers I have been asked to protest the issuance of parking tickets to our volunteers. Volunteers are very essential to our hospital. They are hard to come by—especially in summer.

Our reasoning is as follows: We do have cards to our parking lot on Franklin Avenue. However this lot has 300 parking spots for 800 employees and 45 volunteers. I echo his disapproval of the There is also two-hour parking name change. Since Dr. Tertius Van Dyke generously

What we are asking for is agreed to sell his father's either three-hour parking on house and land (Avalon) to the those streets or recognition of YMCA at a very low price, and the Volunteer stickers we all his only hope was that the new have on our cars by the police, street he called "Avalon as our tours of duty are for 2½ Place," why not honor his hours. There would be no wishes!

abuse of either of these things. Since Mayor and Council of as there would be no reason the Borough of Princeton see for us to linger longer in that fit to change the name of the location.

Please consider our of the Borough a chance to express their views by means of a referendum on the hallot!

MRS. STUART MINTON of 422 Snowden Lane

Credit Where It's Due. Mr. Robeson lived on the corner of Witherspoon Street and Green Street. When I read

While I thank Grace Wile of the change, I contacted sincerely for her kind words Mayor Cawley and suggested about me as coordinator of the recently - held Landau senior citizens' picnic, nevertheless I must set the record straight: I am not a member of the Joint Commission on Aging. The commission chairman, Jeanne Large, has been most helpful, encouraging and supportive in all the planning stages and was instrumental in obtaining sponsorship of this year and last.

Name Change Protested. To the Editor of Town Topics: In the TOWN TOPICS dated July 29, Robert Carter Miller wrote a letter concerning the change from "Avalon Place" to "Paul 300 parking spots for 800 Robeson Place."

Figures for population, income, taxes, number of residential and commercial properties, ethnic demography, real estate sales, and such help to flesh out the image of our town which each of us carries about; it is a picture many of us would like to draw well. But as presented last week, the facts raise nearly as many questions as they answer.

The presentation leaves some of the work up to the reader. We learn that the Township has only marginally two more appropriate locations to be renamed in honor of Mr. Robeson: the former Y (Youth Center) on the corner of Witherspoon Street and Avalon Place; and Green Street.

My father's and mother's families lived in Princeton since 1800. As a longstanding Princetonian, I ask myself why the old Princetonians just sit back and say "o.k." to the name change. As Mr. Miller said, it is a "cheap political move, and hardly worthy of the governing body of Princeton." Is that true, Mayor and Council?

MARY C. DENNEN
50 North Tulane Street

What Princeton Is All About. To The Editor of Town Topics: "...Wealth in Princeton..." perhaps effectively refutes our Borough official's rather incautious observations on piracy in our midst, but it left a bit to be desired. Such quantifiable facts as there were would have been better off dichotomized in a compact readily assessable chart. To kick off the article, you might even have made it a guessing game by omitting "Borough-Township" from the head of the list

I was willing to grant tentative credence to the contention that "the Township, exactly and precisely like the Borough, has a large, firm core of small, older houses on narrow lots." I like to think I have an open mind. But how many houses in the Township are over 100 years old? As many, more, less than on Chestnut alone? Or on Hodge?

How many houses in the Township have no front yard to speak of? Ewing resembles Chestnut about as exactly and precisely as Harrison resembles Nassau. Take a walk down Linden Lane without the blindfold next time. The point is not proven by the examples given.

Tell us more of these arcane "rateables" hiding behind schoolchildren. Speak to us of reevaluation and the "true value" of houses; I was under the impression that a fair price was considered to be whatever the market would bear and that the only true value a thing has is its use-value, which cannot be quantified.

As for income and tax averages: useful though they may sometimes be, averages in their raw unqualified state have one outstanding fault - they conceal extremes. Two radically different groups of anything may be susceptible to treatment which can make them look identical on paper.

It's evident that Borough citizens comprise a much broader spectrum of human economic achievement than the Township's people (they more than compensate with their depth), but the figures give no hint of this. "Older money...in much greater quantity" hints, but hardly tells the whole story. In 1967 my high school American history teacher told us, among other things, that there were "50 known millionaires" residing "in Princeton". Untold thousands of them who aren't letting on are clipping the hedge and everything else in sight out there in the Township, right?

Seriously, what is known of this matter? The teacher didn't specify their exact location and we didn't ask; it didn't seem to matter; it was enough that they were in town. It is a source of pride to some.

In and of themselves, statistics are incapable of evil or stupidity - they are either accurate or inaccurate, and wholly at the mercy of the artificer. Gathered together for a specific purpose, they form a map of sorts.

We all know maps: a good one can be invaluable; a bad one, worse than useless. And, though no hero of mine, Al Capp was right on the money more people than, but very nearly twice as many "residential properties" as the Borough. These data are separated by 18 inches of copy.

No comment is made on their possible meaning. Terms are not defined: what, in fact, is a "residential property"? Does a one-family house ever equal a large apartment complex simply because legally they may both be "single" properties regardless of how many buildings may be involved? It seems not unlikely.

We live in a land of legal fictions, where corporations are periodically considered to be individuals; might units of housing admit of similar magicks? What is commercial property and what is made of those buildings in which residential and pure commercial functions overlap? Palmer Square is packed with them. How does the University, which owns everything from mansions to row houses, fit in the picture?

The reference to zoning ordinances was rather opaque, contained at least one floating non-sentence, and would do little or nothing to enlighten the uninitiated. I know; I'm one.

when he opined, via the pithy personality of Mammy Yokum, "You kin git statistics to prove anything."

Capp takes liberty with the verb "to prove" to suit his humorous intent - it's hardly as funny to say, "You kin git faulty or incomplete statistics to support, or, indeed, even appear to prove, a vast number of demonstrably false contentions." (On second thought, maybe it's funnier...) The point is not that statistics ought to be avoided entirely, but that they ought to be presented in incontrovertible fashion. Or perhaps not be held to prove anything all by themselves.

That to which all my trouble here boils down is the question of the audience for whom and the end for which the news is written. I do not want to seem divisive. I do want to seem curious.

I was born in the Township and now live in the Borough. Several years of adolescence went by before I realized I'd been crossing the border nearly every day of the preceding decade, not infrequently a dozen times in a day. Doubtless there have been reasons for "the two Princetons"; convince me that they aren't nonsense. Whatever the outcome, we'll not avoid learning a bit.

Learning - that is this town's major industry, ain't it? Some of us just want to know, but some of us need to know, as a matter of duty to others if not to one's self. It occurs to me that the difference between physicians and politicians is that the latter do not necessarily have to know nearly as much as the former about the bodies with which they deal.

TO DISCUSS LOANS

On TV's Robert McNeil Show, Kenneth A. Kohl of Park Avenue, Pennington, the U.S. associate commissioner of education for the office of guaranteed student loans of the U.S. Office of Education, will be on the Robert McNeil Report on Channels 52, 23 and 13 Thursday at 7. Representative James O'Hara of Michigan will also participate in the discussion on loans for higher education.

Former director of financial aid at Princeton University, Mr. Kohl will discuss the guaranteed-loan system sponsored by the Federal government in the half-hour program. Under the system, students borrow money from commercial or savings banks, savings and loan associations or credit associations. The loan is guaranteed by a state or private non-profit agency or insured by the Federal government.

In this state, the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance authority is the pertinent regional authority. In most cases students are able to borrow as much as $2,500, and depending on the outcome of the higher education bill currently on the floor of Congress, medical and law students may be able to borrow up to $10,000. Students do not have to begin paying back the loan until nine to 12 months after graduation and then have ten years to pay in full.

THE BARRIERS ARE DOWN: Ceremonial ribbon-cutting last Wednesday opened the trellis-sheltered Chambers Walk, which extends from Chambers to John and is the first segment in an eventual cross-town walkway. Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley (left), cuts the streamers while E. Harvey Myers, architect of the walk, and Audrey Short, former president of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and a strong backer of the walk, lend moral support. The walk is a community project: Stony Brook Garden Club members planted the flowers; Borough, Chamber of Commerce and Palmer Square, Inc., each contributed $1,000; others have also contributed money and six individuals and organizations donated red oak trees. Tree donors are Mrs. Short, the Chamber, Palmer Square, John Bernard (in charge of fund-raising), Princeton Borough and the Walter B. Howe Agency.

University and has been with Response Analysis four years. She lives at 113 West Broad Street, Hopewell, with her husband, Eugene Heaton, and two sons.

In other promotions, Susan A. Wisbrod of Hamilton Square has been advanced from Research Assistant to Research Associate and Catherine Weidler of Frenchtown has been named to the new position of Bookkeeping Manager.

CONOVER HONORED
By Ford Motor Co. The Nassau-Conover Motor Company, Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road, was one of 33 dealerships honored for outstanding achievements in 1975 by the Ford Division's Philadelphia sales district.

The company, headed by George W. Conover, was cited for "consistently providing superior service to new and used car and truck owners over the past year" and "at the same time maintaining high ethical standards."

This year marked the 19th time that Nassau-Conover has won the award.

NET EARNINGS UP
At Applied Data. Revenue from continuing operations, earnings from continuing operations, and net earnings per share all exceeded the corresponding figures from last year as Applied Data Research Inc. of State Road reported its summary of operations for the first six months.

Net earnings per share rose to 62 cents, compared to 12 cents per share for the first six months of 1975. This year's figure was increased by an extraordinary credit of 30 cents a share, caused by a reduction of income taxes resulting from carry-forward of prior years' operating losses.

Earnings per share before the extraordinary item was still almost double last year's earnings: 32 cents compared to 17 cents in '75. Net earnings amounted to $755,766 this year; $142,958 in the first half of last year.

In commenting on the operating results for the six-month period, John R. Bennett, president of Applied Data Research, noted that earnings from continuing operations of $806,766 were almost double that of the comparable prior period. "The software products business continues to improve," he added.

Mr. Bennett said that the company had reduced its total outstanding debt, including bank borrowings and convertible debentures, by $944,827 since December 31, and by $1,270,827 since June 30, 1975.

PETERSON'S CITED
For Media Presentation. Stuart Country Day School has been awarded a citation of achievement for slide media programs in the annual awards competition sponsored by the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education.

The award-winning synchronized sound and slide show was produced for the school by Peterson's Guides Inc., 228 Alexander Street. Elizabeth R. Keuffel, director of admissions and development at Stuart, and her staff have used the portable presentation during the past year to introduce Stuart to students and parents in the Princeton area.

While several other preparatory schools utilize similar media programs, Stuart's was the only secondary school show to be recognized in the 1976 CASE competition.

The Stuart sound and slide show is the fourth media presentation produced by Peterson's Guides to receive a national award.

ART WORKS DISPLAYED

The prints highlight the historic, academic and cultural life of Princeton and include scenes of Morven, Nassau Street, the Princeton Cemetery and the Delaware-Raritan Canal.

This is the third exhibit at the Corporate Education Center. The series will continue throughout the Bicentennial Year.

WORKSHOPS PLANNED
By The Woman's Place. The Woman's Place at 14½ Witherspoon Street has planned a day-long workshop on psychodrama and a six-week session on weight reduction using Gestalt techniques.

The psychodrama workshop is scheduled for Saturday from 9 to 4 and will introduce the techniques and experience of psychodrama. The leader is Cynthia Ward, who says that theatre training is not necessary, but "being human is." She describes psychodrama as the reenactment of psychic action — action that is of psychological significance to

Ms. Ward has participated in psychodrama workshops with Zerk Moreno, Jim Enneis and Hannah Weiner and has this year been in a director's training group with Jim Sachs. She has appeared as an actress at Rider College and with the Princeton Community Players and has taught drama at The Pennington School.

The fee for this workshop is $20, and to register call 924-8867.

The weight reduction workshop is designed to help women deal with their self-image and eating habits and will be held Thursday evenings, August 19 through September 23, 8 to 10 p.m.

Not a traditional weight reduction program with the weekly weigh-ins, score cards and planned diet, this workshop instead will use Gestalt therapy techniques which aim at helping people become aware of their self-image. It tries to show how weight fluctuates depending on that image and how to reinforce its positive aspects.

The group leader will be Cleo Walter who has been trained as a Gestalt therapist by Dr. Neil Lamer of Michigan. She has tried various weight reduction groups with no success until this year when she has lost 60 pounds so far. She sees this workshop as a group working together to reinforce those who are losing, encourage those trying to maintain even a small weight loss, and give direction and insight to those who may not have been ready until now to lose weight.

The fee for this workshop is $30, and for information and registration call 799-0542 or 924-8989.

SCHOOL STUDY PLANNED

By Women Voters. The League of Women Voters of Princeton has committed itself through a consensus of its membership to work for more community involvement in planning for the Princeton schools.

Since May, 1975, a school study committee has been active on a study question chosen by its members to "...survey and assess the Princeton School system..." As the committee became involved in this study it grew more and more aware of the frustrations resulting from lack of communication between community and schools. The new education bill requires community participation in goal setting. The League wishes to carry this involvement even further.

The League welcomes the School Board's proposal for a public relations committee. Members of the school study committee plan to follow its activities during the coming year. Study plans also include the study of the School Board in the School District, the administrative staff, teachers, school finances and school and community relations. An attempt will be made by members of the committee to ascertain how the community is being involved in other New Jersey towns and cities and to study the use of lay communities here.

For further information about the League's school study committee, call Sallie Jesser at 921-8106.

NO RAP SESSIONS

During YWCA Vacation. Because of the three-week closing of the YWCA, SOLO will not hold its regular Wednesday open rap on August 18, 25 and September 1. The raps will resume September 8.

Any woman who is on her own, whether divorced, widowed or single, is invited to participate. For more information, call 921-6514.

LIONS COLLECT STAMPS

For Use in Institutions. The West Windsor Lions Club is continuing to collect U.S. and foreign stamps which will be given to institutions where the people can pass the hours working with the educational hobby of stamp collecting.

Many businesses and establishments have allowed the Lions to place large stamp collection boxes on their premises where used postage stamps may be deposited. These locations include Lucar Hardware and Will's Shell Station on Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction; the West Windsor public library in Dutch Neck Center; Rossmoor in Jamesburg; Meadow Lakes Village in Hightstown and the Plainsboro Post Office in Plainsboro.

Stamps may also be mailed to the Plainsboro Post Office at zip code 08536. If any other locations would like to have a stamp collection box on their premises, they may call Berni Midland at 799-1642.

POETRY GROUP TO MEET

At University Library. The Delaware Valley Poets will meet August 19 to discuss the 1976 Conference of the International Poetry Society in July in Dorking, England, which was attended by Lois-Long Anders of 601 Lake Drive. The meeting will be held in the Princeton University Library Staff Lounge at 7:30.

Mrs. Anders, who is listed in the International Who's Who in Poetry and the Dictionary of International Biography, is a member of the International Poetry Society and is vice chairman of the Delaware Valley Poets Chapter of the New Jersey Poetry Society. She has just returned from England where she was the only American poet attending the Conference and reading from her own poems. Guests are welcome to attend the meeting.

Of all the current coaches in the National Football League, the one who has the best overall winning percentage is Chuck Knox of the Rams, who's won an average of 8 out of every 10 games he's coached in the NFL for a winning percentage of .800...The No. 2 man is Don Shula of the Dolphins (.772) and third is John Madden of the Raiders (.750)...Fourth is George Allen of the Redskins (.711) and fifth is Bud Grant of the Vikings (.702)...Oddly, Chuck Noll, who's won 2 straight Super Bowls with the Steelers, has an overall winning percentage of only .584 because of the losing seasons his first few years.

Did you know the first touchdown of this Bicentennial year was scored by a player named G. Washington?...It happened during the Cotton Bowl game last Jan. 1—which was the first football game played in 1976 (the other bowl games on Jan. 1 started after the Cotton Bowl)—and G. (for Gene) Washington of Georgia scored the first touchdown of that game, and thus, the first TD of 1976.

MACCUDY, CARP WIN
In Mixed Doubles Play. The annual Princeton Community Tennis tournaments ended with the mixed doubles events last week. The open flight was won by Doug MacCurdy, director of the Lawrenceville Tennis Camp, and Terry Carp of the University tennis team and instructor in the Community Tennis Program. They defeated Jerry Skey and Nina Moyer, 6-4, 6-1, after downing David Benjamin and Jacquie Parmele in the semi-finals.

The married flight champions were Mark and Merry Knowlton, who beat Gerry and Sue Mould, 6-3, 6-2. The Moulds had a close three-set match in the semi-finals against Roald and Shirrell Buhler.

The winners in the consolation brackets were Fred Fagerstrom and Jan Denise, who downed Frank Oglesby and his daughter Beth, 6-4, 6-4, in the open flight. Bill and Anne Humes defeated David and Barbara Vilkomerson in the married flight, 6-2, 6-3.

LYLE WINS SINGLES
In Trenton Tourney. Jeff Lyle of Princeton defeated Kevin Kerns to capture the 18 and under singles title of the Trenton Junior Tennis Championships. Playing a hard-fought first set, Jeff won the second set easily to win the match, 7-5, 6-1.

Lisa Garb advanced to the finals, but was defeated in a tough three-set match against Laurie Miller. Lisa and her sister, Debbie, combined to make a strong doubles team, defeating Tracy Ahern and Heather Tome, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, to reach the finals, but lost in the finals to Sarah Cooper and her partner. Another team from Princeton, David Koss and John Connolly, moved to the finals with a 6-2, 7-6, victory in the semis.

Mark Goodman of Princeton also reached the quarter finals of the Trenton tournament. He defeated Willie Thompson, 6-1, 6-2. Other participants from the Princeton area who played in the tournament were Scott Santin, Suzanne Usiskin, Diane Aronovic, Sharon McCurdy, Mike Crystal, Lisa Carpi, Bryce Thompson, Linda Sinuk, Marc Plante, and Bob Nickel.

VIRGINIANS HOSTED
By Princeton Tennis Group. The advanced Tournament group of the Princeton Community Tennis Program was host last week to a county-sponsored junior tennis team from Arlington, Va., in the second exchange match this summer between the two teams. Robert Jones, of the Arlington County Recreational Department was the leader of the travelling group that also played the Lawrenceville Tennis Camp earlier in the week. Bill Achtmeyer and Brad Caswell, instructors for the Advanced Tournament group, coached the Princeton team.

The Princeton players who fared well were David Koss, Bob Nickel, Marc Erikson, Bernie Chen, Larry Edelman, Mark Goodman, Scott Santin, Bryce Thompson, Charlie Han, Bill Altman, Tricia Keeler, Krista Schmidt, Jackie Roche, Debbie Blair and Linda Sinuk.

Other participants from the area were Mike Mack, John Sinuk, Paul Sinuk, David Asano, Bill Haynes, Doug Atkin and Nancy Evans.

LAPIDUS FARES WELL
In National Tournaments. Jay Lapidus, the No. 1 junior tennis player in the Middle States, has just returned from two major national tennis tournaments, which drew the top 128 junior players in the country. His first tournament, PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT: Jimmy McCarthy hopes that the time he spends on the practice green at Springdale will help him when he travels to Florida next week to play in the National PGA Junior Championship.

Several years of practice at Princeton area golf courses have paid off in a big way for 16-year-old Jimmy McCarthy, who will travel to Florida, all expenses paid, this week to play in the National PGA Junior Golf Championship.

McCarthy qualified for the tournament last month when he won the state title at the Fairmont Country Club in Chatham. The Princeton High senior fired rounds of 72 and 79 in the 36-hole match to win by three strokes.

The championship will be held at one of the three courses at DisneyWorld, where McCarthy will be up against 38 other boys representing all parts of the country. Thirty-nine girls will compete at the same time in another tournament.

The boys will play four rounds of 18 holes, beginning Tuesday, with a practice round set for Monday. An awards banquet is set for Friday night, but the golf is only half the fun.

The players will be staying at one of the DisneyWorld hotels, and will be able to tour the amusement park each afternoon and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCarthy, 44 Morgan Place, and a daughter, will make the trip also.

Lewis Places Sixth
As Jimmy McCarthy was getting set to play in the National PGA Junior Golf Championship this week, another Springdale boy was showing signs of promise on the links.

Norman Lewis, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. Robert Lewis, 73 Wilson Road, finished sixth in the boy's division of the Rutgers Open Golf Tournament held last week at Piscataway.

Lewis had a 79 on the first day of the competition, good enough for third place, but on the second day, playing 36 holes, he shot an 89 and an 83, finishing the day with a string of six pars.

He will be a sophomore at Princeton High School this fall.

The National Clay Court Championships in Louisville, Ky., found him unseeded in a 128 draw. He was eliminated from the main draw in the round of 32 but went into the consolation draw where he advanced to the finals before losing to Peter Rennert of New York, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. In earlier action he beat a player ranked 13th nationally in 1975 and the No. 1 Western Tennis Association player.

In the National Boys Junior Championships at Kalamazoo, Mich., the major junior tennis tournament in the United States, Lapidus reached the round of 16 before being ousted by John McEnroe of New York, the No. 2 seeded player and eventual winner of the tournament.

PRO-AM AT FORSGATE
Tuesday, August 17.
Defending champion Tom Ulozas heads the list of former winners who will be playing in the fourth annual Garden State Arts Center Cultural Fund Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament on Tuesday,
August 17, at the Forsgate Country Club, near Jamesburg.

Ulozas carded a four-under-par when he won last year's event, playing on the Forsgate west course. The year before, the Madison Golf Club pro turned in a 69 on the east layout to win the crown.

Peter Dachisen of the Mount Tabor Country Club, the 1974 winner, covered the Forsgate west course with a successful 68. Ralph Terry, former New York Yankee pitcher who is also coming back for another try, won the title the first year it was held.

The tournament is being run in cooperation with the New Jersey Professional Golfers Association and will bring together most of the State pros competing for cash awards ranging from $5,000 to $7,500.
The amateurs will be competing for 55 prizes with a value of almost $7,000.

Highlighting the prize list are two Dodge cars donated by the New Jersey - New York
- Fairfield County Dodge Dealers Association as hole-in-one prizes. The first hole-in-one on each course will receive one of the cars.

FALL PROGRAM PLANNED
By Soccer Group. The Princeton Soccer Club is planning to expand its fall program to accommodate as many as 450 boys and girls in the Princeton community.
Several new teams have been added and there will be five different leagues when play resumes in September.

The club is directed by Richard Broad and Francis Dyckman, and the individual teams are sponsored by various business firms in the Princeton area.

The club also plans to continue its All-Star program which it began last spring and also offer a limited number of scholarships to those who need financial assistance. Players will be assigned to leagues according to year of birth rather than exact age. For the first time the program will be open to six-year-olds.

Information sheets and registration forms will be mailed this month to all previous participants and will also be made available at local schools and businesses sponsoring teams. For further information contact the

Playoff Saturday in Springdale Tournament

Roland Smith and Bill Turgeon will meet Saturday in an 18-hole playoff for the Harry Kinnell trophy at Springdale Golf Club.

Both players shot net rounds of 138 in 36 holes of medal play last weekend. Soggy fairways were the rule both days and Sunday's action was staged throughout intermittent showers.

Turgeon was ahead of Smith after the first day with a net 68 to the latter's 71. On Sunday, however, they traded scores, Smith posting a net 68 and Turgeon a 71. The latter will have a 13-stroke advantage in the playoff with a handicap of 27 to Smith's 14.

Saturday's winner will succeed Kester Pierson as the Kinnell Tournament champion. The event is named for a former professional at Springdale and is based on successive 18-hole rounds with every entrant using full handicap. Kinnell, now living in his native Scotland, was the club pro from just after the war until the mid '60s.

In third place in the standings was John Budd, who had rounds of 69 and 71 for 140, based on his 16 handicap.
Charlie Hurford, who also plays at 16, followed with a pair of 71s for 142, while a seven-handicapper, Walter Hankin, turned in the best gross scores (78-79) for a net 143.

Others who followed, with their handicaps, included
Charlie Bardwell (16), 72-72-144; Ken Dawes (9), 71-74-145; Frank Crecca (13), the first-round leader with a 65, followed by an 81 for 146; Dick Querns (15), 72-74-146; Jim Schwartz (22), 74-72-146; Don Stuart (17), 72-74-146; Woodrow Wirsig (10), 70-76-146; Kline Fulmer (21), 70-77-147, and Jack Mudge (6), 72-75-147.

teams of Dan Allen, Jim Swartz and Jay Sexton, and Don Luecke, Stan Tantom and Jerry Wang.

CENTER GAINS TITLE

Conte's Second, Center Sports clinched the Princeton Recreation Adult Softball League title last week. The Center Club began the week with a narrow 7-6 win over Andy's in extra innings. After their win over Andy's, Center needed only one win to capture the league title. It did so by romping over long time rival Conte's, 22-5.

In the win over Conte's, Brendon Layton had four hits while Dave Sweeney homered. Center Sports and Conte's had been running a tight first and second in the standings for the entire season. With only one game remaining in regular season play, Center enters the playoffs as one of the hottest teams in Mercer County.

C. Sq. C. won its two games for the week, defeating Andy's, 6-5, and Conte's, 14-11. Tony Bailey reached base three times against Andy's. In the slugfest with Conte's, Baily and Dane Black homered and Ernie Henderson stroked four hits. With these two victories, C. Sq. C. has clinched a playoff spot, the first time since the club began play.

Ivy Inn also clinched a playoff spot with victories over P.M.C., 17-3, and Grover Taxi, 14-0. Keith Holcombe had three hits and a walk, and Greg Christenson homered in the P.M.C. win. Ivy's Christenson also had a four-for-four night against Grover Taxi. One of his hits was a homer.
